BANDIT ATTACKS COVE MAN

Today

A Better War.
$120,000 for $5.
Palestine Simmers.
Mr. Mellon Borrows.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

IT looks like a real fight by Standard and other big oil companies against the British
"Shell" invading these United States.

Standard Oil cut prices yesterday for the second time in two weeks. Shell says "I call you" and also cuts prices. Interesting war and a better kind, with dollars instead of men lost.

IN England, Wednesday, Trigo,
winner of this year's derby, added to his earnings the St. Leger sweepstakes, worth $62,000.

May Anderson, a British country girl who won $5 on Trigo's derby, bought a St. Leger sweepstakes ticket for $5, drew Trigo's name and won $120,000.

She will lose that in other bets,
or some man will get it away from her.
And more than 120,000 men and women, reading of her good luck,
will become gamblers.

TROUBLE still simmers throughout Palestine. The boycott of Arab merchandise by the Jews grows more intense, the feeling more bitter. Arabs are accused of putting poison on fruit for sale to Jews.

The Associated Press says that a young Jew sprayed gasoline on grapes that Arabs offered for sale to make sure that his co-religionists would not buy them.

BRITAIN considers the situation safe and has withdrawn from Malta the battleship Royal Sovereign that had been ordered to stand by for Palestine trouble.

SECRETARY MELLON, needing $500,000,000 for Uncle Sam's use, invited subscriptions to treasury certificates. He was offered $1,486,000,000, almost a billion more than he needed.
By the way, he did not pay 9
per cent, or the federal reserve
6 per cent discount rate either.

MR. MELLON could have bought the $500,000,000 of certificates himself and saved on income tax. But he avoids all business connected with government, and besides, he knows how to invest more profitably.

A YOUNG German, J. F. Bohnhoeffer, climbed out of the trenches took off his steel helmet when the war ended, aged 17.

Instead of spending the rest of his life telling what a hero he had been, he went to work. He now amazes a scientific gathering at Minneapolis, proving that he can divide the supposedly indivisible molecule of hydrogen gas into two different substances.

No money in it, as yet, but Dr.
Taylor, of Princeton, calls it the "greatest scientific discovery of 1929."

BRITAIN also has "naval experts" that object to arming the trenches now to building a tunnel under the English Channel to connect France and England by rail and automobile.

Nevertheless, the tunnel will be built.
It will cost $150,000,000, and employ 12,000 men for four years.
With the arrival of the airship,
Britain is no more an island than France or Germany, and no longer fears invasion by tunnel.

A NORWEGIAN engineer discovers a way to kill whales
by electricity.

Killed in the old way whales float. Another step in the extermination of the whale, grown too big for safety.

ONCE, according to evolution-
ists, before it took to the ocean, the whale had hind legs. You still see the little thigh bones in the whale skeleton. Some millions of years ago, the whale was no bigger than a tree shrew, that you could hold in your hand. Well for him he remained small, and on land.

RADICAL "Communist" labor
union organizers in North Carolina say they were threatened with death, told "their bodies would be found riddled with bullets" if they didn't leave the state. One is ill, result of a violent flogging.

IT IS usual for those that object
most violently to anarchy, to use anarchistic methods on their own account. Whoever takes the law into his own hands, thus declaring laws unnecessary, is an anarchist, whether he belongs to a Russian school that blew up czars, or the Puritan school that burned witches.

BIG business grows bigger and bigger. Everybody was excitiously, when old Standard Oil was supposed to be worth a billion.
Now split up, it's worth many billions. No one worries.

Pennsy Passenger and Freight Agencies Here Consolidated

HODGKINSON GETS EUCLID AVENUE POST

J. E. Hannahs, Freight Agent, on New Job.

ASSIGN CLERKS
Change at C. & P. Station Effective Monday.

James Hodgkinson, ticket agent at the East Liverpool station of the Pennsylvania Railroad company for 12 years, was today transferred to the Euclid avenue station, Cleveland, as a result of the consolidation of freight and passenger agencies here.

Two Clerks Will Be Named.
J. E. Hannahs, freight agent here since August, 1929, will assume Hodgkinson's duties as passenger agent in connection with his present post. The change becomes effective Monday.

Hodgkinson succeeds the late Edward Horrigan, formerly of Wellsville, who died suddenly in an automobile last July. Hodgkinson came to this city when Horrigan, former local ticket agent, was transferred to Cleveland in 1917.

The local passenger station will be in charge of two clerks, who have not been appointed.

On Payroll 25 Years.
Hodgkinson, who entered the service of the Pennsylvania company in East Liverpool in March, 1904, will have six clerks under his supervision at the Euclid avenue station. He will move his household furnishings to Cleveland as soon as he can dispose of his property in Vine street.

Hodgkinson was first employed as a platform man at the local freight station more than 25 years ago. A year later he was given a clerk position at the Laughlin station in East End. In 1908 he was sent to Ravenna as ticket agent, where he remained for three years, after which he became ticket agent at the C. & P. station in Steubenville. He came to East Liverpool as ticket agent in August 21, 1917. Hannahs began work as a freight handler at the East Liverpool station in 1901. Three years later he was appointed clerk at Bellaire where he remained for nine years. He was then promoted to the chief clerk post at the Laughlin station, and in 1915 became chief clerk of the downtown freight station. Two years later he was named freight agent at the Wellsville shops and then came to East Liverpool in 1920 as freight agent.

TOLEDO JUDGE OUTWITS FOES

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—(INS).—Formal papers were issued today by Governor Myers Y. Cooper restoring Municipal Judge Ira C. Cole, Toledo, to full citizenship. The governor's action was in response to a request submitted some weeks ago by friends of Judge Cole who sought to thwart efforts of certain persons to have the judge ousted from the municipal bench on the ground that he was ineligible because he pleaded guilty, 13 years ago, at Bowling Green, to the charge of participating in the theft of merchandise from a box car.

Cole was given a suspended sentence in the state reformatory at Mansfield. His sentence expired Aug. 13, 1916.

SIX MEN FLEE KENTUCKY JAIL

MORGANFIELD, Ky., Sept. 13.—(INS).—Twelve prisoners remain in the county jail here today following the escape of six inmates last night after they had cut a hole in the rear wall of the local bastille.

A back saw and a pipe wrench were used by the escaped men in making their getaway.

A thorough search is being made by surrounding county authorities for the men today.

Friday 13th Fails To Jinx Yank Barber

Louis Arico Lands at Southampton, England, Although He Forgot His Passport.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Sept. 13.—(INS).—Louis Arico, world-renowned $1,000 barber, had a few hours of "Friday the thirteenth" hard luck when he arrived here on the Leviathan today, but finally managed to get himself out of an embarrassing predicament.

Arriving here for a vacation sponsored by William F. Kenny, millionaire New York contractor, Arico found that he had forgotten his passport. Immigration inspectors promptly refused him admittance, but referred the matter to the home office.

Several hours later, word came through from London that Arico might land provided he departed by next Tuesday when the Leviathan starts back home. The distraught barber, who flatly denies the report that he had been summoned by trans-Atlantic telephone to Europe for the express purpose of cutting Kenny's hair, tripped down the gang-plank with his face wreathed in smiles. For a while it looked as though Arico was going to stay aboard the Leviathan, but the home office proved lenient and let him in on a temporary permit.

SECOND SHOCK KILLS SLAYER

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13.—(INS).—A condemned murderer, whose body leaped forward in the electric chair of the state penitentiary here today with more than 2,000 volts surging through him, sighed when the current was shut off and said rather wearily: "Boys, I'm not dead yet."

A few seconds later the current was reapplied and the murderer, Carl Hord, 21, of Louisville, Ky., was killed.

FOUR MEN FREED IN BANK HOLDUP

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—(INS).—With four suspects already released, police today were expected to liberate another suspect, a man whose name has not been revealed, in connection with the holdup and $5,000 robbery at the North High Savings and Loan Company's bank here last Monday.

Tom McComb, 27, of this city, partially identified as one of the robbers, is still held by the police for investigation.

POTTERS VOTE ON DELEGATE TO LABOR MEET

G. H. Cartledge and L. E. Wheatley Candidates

DUFFY WILL GO
Nominees Named in August Primary Election.

Approximately 7,500 members of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters began balloting today for delegate to the American Federation of Labor which will be held at Toronto, Canada, beginning October 7.

Two nominees were named in the primary election last month, results of which have just been announced. They are First Vice President George H. Cartledge, Trenton, and E. L. Wheatley of East Liverpool. One of them will be named to accompany President James M. Duffy, the other delegate from the ceramic industry, to the convention.

All returns must be filed with Brotherhood officials not later than September 27.

The president, first vice-president and secretary-treasurer have alternated as delegate to the national convention of the federation in former years. The change was voted at the annual convention in Atlantic City in July. By the new arrangement the ceramic workers will be represented by two delegates.

President James Duffy was delegate to last year's convention in New Orleans, La.

British Councillor, On Six-Week Tour of United States, Terms Ceramic City "Pleasing Picture In Beautiful Frame"

R. H. Minshall is Studying Educational Methods.

East Liverpool today was termed "a pleasing picture surrounded by a beautiful frame" by R. H. Minshall, councillor of Sheffield, Yorkshire, England, who is visiting here on a six-week tour of the United States for a study of educational methods.

WASHINGTON, LONDON AGREE ON NAVAL PACT

Premier MacDonald And Dawes in Accord.

BRITAIN HAPPY

Government Chieftain Sails for U. S. on Sept. 28.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The British cabinet met in special session at 5 o'clock this afternoon to consider the American naval note, replying to Premier Ramsay MacDonald's latest disarmament proposals.

By Harry R. Flory
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—After weeks of negotiation, during which stark failure more than once stared them in the face, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Ambassador Charles Dawes, representing the United States government, at last are believed to have reached an agreement on naval disarmament.

Word passed around in authoritative circles today was to the effect that the principal difficulties relating to achievement of naval parity between the United States and Great Britain had finally been surmounted. It was regarded as a fact that Premier MacDonald would leave England on the Berengaria on Sept. 28, bound for Washington to lay plans with President Hoover for the calling of a world conference on reduction of naval armaments.

MacDonald Jovial Optimist.
The agreement for which MacDonald and Dawes had striven for weeks was understood to have been reached during a brief conference at 10 Downing street last night, when the American ambassador brought the latest word from the United States government regarding disarmament proposals.

The conversation, characterized in official circles as the "most critical chat" that had taken place between the premier and the American representative, transformed Prime Minister MacDonald from a careworn and harassed statesman into a happy and jovial optimist.

It was announced following the conversation that the views of the United States and Great Britain had at last reached a point where there is "every likelihood of an ultimate and complete naval disarmament accord."

Disarmament Parley Looms.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The long-sought naval understanding between Great Britain and the United States, which is to serve as a spring-board for another world disarmament conference, was regarded as a happy omen.

TROLLEY CAR KILLS DRIVER

Atwater Man Dies in Truck Crash in Akron.

AKRON, O., Sept. 13.—(INS).—John Freese, 29, of Atwater, a few miles south of here, was killed shortly after noon today when the truck which he was driving was struck by a fast interurban traction car just outside the city limits. He was crushed in the wreckage.

Howard W. Ponder, 29, of Akron, motorman of the traction car, was slightly injured and was taken to City hospital. He suffered cuts and bruises about the face and body.

GUEST AT LOUIS BILTON HOME IN AVONDALE ST.

The cost of lighting the streets is $325,000 a year.
"I am delighted with East Liverpool," he declared. "I notice your streets here are well marked, something that is lacking in a majority of American cities which I have visited. There is also a lack of public comfort stations in your cities on this continent."

Unemployment, according to Minshall, is one of Great Britain's biggest problems. The country, he declared, has 1,250,000 men without jobs, of whom 25,000 are in Sheffield.

THOMAS WOLF HIT ON HEAD WITH HAMMER

Brutal Assault in Attempted Holdup of Store.

SKULL CRUSHED

Three Gangsters Flea As Victim Falls To Floor.

WEIRTON, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Thomas Wolf, 66, of Holiday's Cove, W. Va., is in the Ohio Valley hospital, Steubenville, today, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, sustained last night when he was struck on the head with a hammer by one of three well dressed youths who made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the grocery store of H. H. Smogler.

Wolf was standing in the store talking with Smogler when the gangsters entered. The leader, approaching the counter, made a demand on Smogler for the day's receipts. Wolf picked up a chair, but before he could wield it he was felled by a blow from a hammer in the hand of the bandit.

The bandits dashed from the scene and escaped in an automobile which was parked a short distance from the Smogler home.

RADICAL CAUSES BROOKLYN RIOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS).—Scores of persons were nursing cuts and bruises today as the result of a serious riot in a densely populated Hebrew section of Brooklyn last night resulting from the remarks of an unwelcome speaker concerning the situation in Palestine.

Three hundred policemen, firemen and members of the radical squad fought a mob of 2,000 for more than an hour before order was restored.

Traffic was halted nearly two hours and merchants in the neighborhood were forced to close their stores when hundreds of rioters attempted to fortify themselves with in and hurl stones, bottles, broken furniture and other missiles at police.

The riot broke out in the course of a Communist meeting, when, according to the police report, Harold Williams, a Negro "Communist organizer," mounted a soap box and denounced the Jewish listeners for their attitude in the Palestine situation.

Ready For a Busy Saturday--- Smart New Autumn Stocks Now In Liberal Display

Your Price Is Our Price

Some folks still have the old fashioned idea that it costs a lot of money to be well-dressed. Often they imagine that things of a good quality are beyond their means. The truth is that to-day money has no monopoly on style. The height of fashion is no longer an inaccessible peak. Every woman of good taste, regardless of income, can wear the right clothes—if she chooses the right store. Smart appearance is not a question of how much you spend but of how you spend it—and where.

Our fashion service is equally for the woman who has to watch expenses and for the woman who doesn't. Not only can the woman of modest income afford to wear fashionable clothes; she simply cannot afford not to wear them when we price them so reasonably.

Faith in Ceramic Industry

East Liverpool district's claim to the distinction of being the ceramic center of America is strengthened by the announcement that the Hall China company, now operating three plants in the downtown zone, will erect a tunnel kiln pottery at a cost of approximately $750,000 in East End.

Purchase of a 21-acre tract as the site for the industry was made as the Homer Laughlin China company, with its extensive holdings in Ohio and West Virginia, rushed preparations for operations in its No. 8 unit at Newell, across the Ohio river, which represents an investment of $1,500,000.

Thus within less than a year two companies, whose stockholders have faith in the Ceramic City, authorized an expenditure of $2,250,000 in an industry which has made East Liverpool known throughout America, for the stamp bearing the name of this Ohio river city which was founded by an English potter is on most of the dinnerware sold by domestic manufacturers.

The Hall company's announcement is good news for this community, for it means not only another modern ceramic plant on the Ohio side of the river but also should prove a stimulant to the district as a whole, for the materials for the construction work will be purchased here and the labor, too, recruited, among East Liverpool workmen.

Appeal to Women

Premier Aristide Briand, of France, who has the reputation of being the most brilliant orator of all Europe, is said to have scored the greatest oratorical triumph of his long and distinguished career when, in addressing the League of Nations assembly in Geneva, he made his stirring appeal to the women of the world to protect their children from false ideas of strife and from the doctrine calculated to inculcate prejudice and hatred among peoples. His utterance had hardly passed his lips when the great audience, which packed the hall, broke into wild and prolonged cheering.

Scoring the forces and peoples who secretly foster the war idea, he praised the League of Nations for pursuing without mercy those responsible for the opium and morphine evils, but what he still more wanted the league to do, he said, was to hunt down those who insidiously poison the minds of children to fill future generations with ideas of strife and conflict.

"It is to the women of the world that I particularly address this appeal," Mr. Briand said with arms upraised in the gesture of supplication. "See to it that your neighbors love the peoples of other lands as well as of their own. See to it that they are taught that war is impossible and that peace must reign forever. When that is achieved, there will not be any need for the league covenant to mention reducing armaments."

In other words, if we get the thought of the French premier correctly, he would have the world give less attention not only to armament, but also to armament reduction, and more to the development of peace-mindedness. He would have the world think less of war and the things of war and more of peace and its pursuits and blessings. He would educate the world to the advantages of peace and friendliness, feeling that with the world thus educated the matter of disarmament will take care of itself.

Prettiness

Screams rend the air and the powder puffs fly in sweet confusion. The judges have muffled the selection of the prettiest girl in the United States.

Scene of the battle was Baltimore, Maryland, and there were 47 in the fray. Peace was declared only after the most bitter fighting had ensued over charges of professionalism brought against some of the contestants and, most important of all, the winner, a lass from Buckeye Lake, Ohio.

American girls must not be discouraged. There are still flowers to be plucked from the hearts of kind old bachelors who are appointed judges of pulchritude contests. No less an authority than Mr. Earl Carroll has declared that "no Miss America was chosen, because there was not a representative showing."

And, by the way, was there ever a so-called beauty contest which was a representative showing of American beauty? Do the most beautiful girls of all the millions of fair lasses in this richly endowed nation go in for that sort of thing? Is it startling to discover that some of them are amusement resort professionals whose only asset is their long distance attraction for the human eye?

An examination of Mr. Webster's definition of the terms "pretty" and "beautiful" reveal that to be beautiful there must be present, in a marked degree, qualities of grandeur, of loveliness and idealism. To be pretty, one has only to be attractive—has only to please the eye. If America must have its annual round of contests to select young ladies who please the taste of doubtful judges, let the competition be called by the proper title—Prettiness Contests. Beautiful girls do not disport themselves before the curious eyes of the multitude.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—In these days when the enormous volume of trading on the New York Stock exchange has caused an intensive discussion of the American credit system, together with several proposals in congress to recast the federal reserve act, a comparison with Great Britain's credit system is of value. To a considerable extent the federal reserve system was modeled on the British system although there are important differences.

Here the twelve federal reserve banks, with the federal reserve board at their head, constitute the controlling element in credit. That control has been challenged in recent months by the growth of outside money offered to finance stock exchange deals. Until so much of this money was offered the federal reserve banks had the situation well under control, because the stock exchange traders were financed almost exclusively by loans of the national banks and the state member banks of the reserve system.

It would seem that with as much as $5,000,000,000 offered for brokers' loans interest rates should fall. Ordinarily this would be the case but the volume of trading has grown with the supply of funds. As this non-bank money supply is subject to wide fluctuations and as huge sums often are withdrawn from the call money market through the loan back in the banks which are not ready to meet it and consequently the whole money situation is rendered so uncertain that rates as high as 30 per cent have been offered.

The situation is somewhat different in England. The Bank of England which, although chartered by the government more than 200 years ago, is not a government organization, is the dominant factor. However, it has gradually worked into a position where it enjoys a certain vague governmental authority. This arises from the fact the government of William III borrowed a large sum of money from the bank and from the further fact that the bank has been granted a note issuing privilege.

As the oldest bank, it became the custom for other banks to carry reserves with the Bank of England. National and state member banks in this country carry reserves with the federal reserve bank in whose district they lie. The Bank of England must carry reserves against its own notes and other obligations and also against deposit liabilities of the banks.

Occupying this strategic position the Bank of England can and does exercise a very real control over the flow of credit. This is done in two principal ways; by the discount rate it establishes on advances to other banks and by its own open market operations; that is, the amount of bills it discounts for traders and the rate of discount charged.

Similar methods, in theory, are followed in the operation of the federal reserve system here but there is a difference in actual practice.

In the United States there are some 30,000 banks each under a different management. In England there are 16. And of these there are but five which really rule credit. The 16 banks have a total of 9,581 branches but of these the big five possess 7,970, so it will be seen that control is highly concentrated. Some of these banks have obviously more than 1,000 branches throughout the kingdom. The big five are, in the order named, the Midland bank, Lloyds bank, Barclays bank, Westminster bank, and the National Provincial bank.

Then there are the bill brokers and the merchant bankers, not bankers in a strict sense but traders in bills and notes all catering to credit needs but all affected, from the point of view of the ebb and flow of credit supplies, by the Bank of England's working in concert with the big five and the handful of other joint stock banks.

Further, is another financial group although not much affecting purely local credit policies. It consists of the big private banks, most of them old established, such as the Rothschilds, Parings, Hambros, and, of later date, Morgans, Grenfells, and Higninsens. These do an investment business largely concerned with foreign matters.

Ritzzy Rosalie

Here it is again! Friday the thirteenth. But Rosalie isn't the least bit superstitious, and the only charm she is wearing is a charming little waterproof wrist compact, and instead of protecting her from bad luck it is to protect her good looks when she goes in swimming.

She just saw Jerry, the good-looking man who recently moved into the house next door, and whom Rosalie has been wanting to meet, drive out of the driveway in his roadster, and she is going to run over and see if Penelope won't go to the beach with her. She doesn't know his last name, but she heard, some one call "Goodbye Jerry" after him as he climbed into the car with his swimming suit thrown over his shoulder. Many a romance has started on less than that. She may "accidentally" find herself sitting near him on the float, and a little makeup will help a lot. He might recognize her as the girl next door, and be more eager to arrange an introduction soon.

The compact is of chromium steel plate, with a flexible metal bracelet, and has a compartment for powder, rouge, and lipstick. When no one was around the other day Rosalie noticed that the radiator on his car was in the form of a sun dial, which she thought was a really useful idea, as well as ornamental. She rather thinks she may let him see her setting her wrist watch by it some afternoon by way of striking up a speaking acquaintance.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Thoughts while strolling: Paul Whiteman's auto with the extra sized door, Sparling, unmuzzled police dogs. Wonder if all the old Waldorf employees got jobs. Who invented the blue plate dinner? And what for? A knife and scissors shop. Damon Runyon's cap.

R. M. Brinkerhoff, a Toledo, O. boy, who made good in the city. What's become of alpaca? Don Dickerman, an uptown night club king, who came out of the village. Child Hassan, the artist. Captain Churchill is still as straight as an arrow. The heavy sweater of Hope Williams, a society actress.

Wish someone would present an old time minstrel show. A yapping dog catches up with a speeding auto—poor little fellow. Eleanor Shaver, a Vassar graduate and clever stage comedienne. What became of the Russian Eagle cafe? Males with ostrich feathers the easy going ladies wear.

The religious feel about Gothic churches. Jim Thornton and Barney Fagin, veteran actors and pals. A Salvation Army Band and its trail of derelicts. Nothing so tempting as fruit store window displays. Those foul creaks that drivers puff in their face.

John N. Wheeler's expression of perpetual surprise. East Side Italian flower sellers with their carts and belled horses. At Woods' wildly ruffled hair. Edith Gould Walden might have grown stout. Time for "Buddy Browning" to break out in another rash of publicity.

Clare Gould and Henry Hall bear a striking resemblance. Not a shuddery murder in Jersey lately. Rarely hear the Belmont name in society any more. Young Chinese sports with gum-chewing blondes. Wish someone would teach New York cooks to put cinnamon in apple pie.

Upstairs private detective agencies—run by former police officials. Don't see many customers in the health food cafes. Ed C. Hill, the Brumell of Park Row. Foreigners drifting to night schools. Native New Yorkers drifting to movies. And the contrast offers a sermon theme for someone.

It is rumored the lovely Maxine Elliott is to end her long self exile in England and return to America.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

To keep the average person well and "fit" takes considerable intelligence. Happy is the housewife who realizes the great importance of serving well-balanced meals to her family flock. All the time and thought that she spends in endeavoring to prepare the right food will more than compensate in the good health of her family. The good effects will be more far-reaching than she will ever know.

A balanced diet is one that supplies all the food elements in the right proportion necessary for building up a healthy body.

There are a few general facts that will help in choosing a proper combination of foods. A good rule is the following: One part protein—that is meats, eggs or other dairy products. Three parts fats—such as butter, cream, oils, cooking fats, oil nuts and fat meats. Six parts carbohydrates—as sugar and starches in potatoes, cereals, bread, sugar and all sweets.

It is to be remembered that milk is the most important of all foods, and one of the cheapest as well. Children would be better off by having a quart of milk a day, and for adults at least a pint should be taken.

Meals should be attractive by having "things look nice." Pleasing color and form, together with suitable food combinations, will go far toward making an appeal to the eye as well as the palate. How much more inviting a table looks in sparkling white, with its bright silver and dainty dishes of lovely hues and the food attractively served, than a carelessly laid table with just anything for a makeshift.

Garnishes for various dishes will add to the attractiveness of the food—a sprig of parsley, red or green peppers cut into strips, or pimiento, carrots cut into shapes, candied fruits, olives and pickles, some flower, such as nasturtium or its leaves, sections of red apple—all these are tempting in color and form.

Remember that meal time should be a happy occasion. Fun and laughter should mingle with interesting bits of conversation, and business worries and household cares should be saved for another time. Have a tranquil mind while eating, for the sake of good digestion. It was not a bad time in the olden time in palatial halls to send for the court jester to help entertain and make merry at meal time. If "laugh and grow fat" is a saying of old, then we might employ such tactics in up-to-date breakfasting, lunching and dining.

Answers to Health Queries.

A SUN READER. Q.—Do you advise treatment for pimples and blackheads?

A.—Yes. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

K. A. B. Q.—What can I do to break my five-year-old daughter from sucking her thumb?

A.—This is purely a habit and must be overcome.

N. L. X. Q.—What will promote the growth of my eyelashes?

A.—Try applying one per cent yellow oxide of mercury ointment to the lashes every night.

Other Editors Say

Mr. Root's Plan.

There has been voted unanimous approval of Mr. Root's World Court plan by forty foreign nations. Anything that other nations so heartily agree to in this or in any other respect, where the vital interests of the United States may be affected, should be subject for at least mild suspicion and questioning, even though the matter may have been presented by so able an international lawyer and presumably good American as Elihu Root.

Whether the United States senate shall prove to be so complacent with respect to this plan for getting us into the World tribunal remains to be seen.

American participation in the World Court for International Justice may be realized. The assembly of the League of Nations, of course, will approve Mr. Root's plan, and the approval of the senate is anticipated—by the alien nations.

The nations objected to a certain reservation made by this government and we stayed out of the court. The fifth American representation concerning advisory opinions from the World Court gave veto privileges to the United States on the right to ask for such advisory opinion. It said that the court, without the consent of the United States, could not grant opinions on questions which the United States possessed or claimed an interest.

Mr. Root very ingeniously seeks to meet this problem by providing a formula for negotiations between the United States and the council of the league in each individual case when the United States has any opposition to the proposal to ask for advisory opinions.

But whether such negotiations would lead to an agreement should be requested remains purely speculative, though it is judged by Mr. Root and the other nations that it would lead to such an agreement. The senate may not if it does to the same opinion. But if it does, shall we at last be in the court and at the threshold of the League of Nations, possibly soliciting admission into that super-state organization, a consummation for a long time devoutly desired by the other nations of the world—upon a basis of sacrifice of American interests more or less plausibly presented—Cincinnati Enquirer.

I think that if you and the young lady's parents talk to her sympathetically and do not try to force her to terminate this friendship rudely that she will be sensible enough to realize that it is for her protection that you are making the request.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am nineteen and in love with a boy twenty-one. He seems to love me too. I can't get to be with him very often, as my father does not like him and won't let him come to the house. He wants to write to me but I am afraid my father will find it out. I think about him all the time. I go to sleep thinking of him.

New please don't advise me to forget him, as I have tried it so many times and can't; for I know I love him more than anyone else. Tell me whether to let him write to me or not.

BROKEN HEARTED.

Remember, my dear, that men are much better judges of men than women, and besides your father is much older and far more capable of passing upon this young man's merits than you are. He is giving you loving protection for which you should be grateful. If your father does not permit him to come to the house you should certainly not permit him to write to you. Were you to do this, the young man would probably lose his respect for you, as it would be a cheap underhand thing to deceive your father in this manner.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a girl for almost a year and have asked her to marry me. She promised to marry me and has always been true to me.

A few weeks ago she met a girl whom I have found is a girl of ill repute. At last some of my boy friends have heard very bad things about her.

My girl friend likes her and claims she is a nice girl, but reports are the reverse about this girl. I have told my girl about it and she does not believe it. I want to make her give up the girl's friendship but she says I do not have sufficient reason to make her give up her friend.

I love my girl, but I have a good reputation and want to keep it. Would you advise me to quit if she does not discontinue this girl's friendship? Should I keep on trying to persuade my girl to quit seeing the girl? Her parents are of my opinion and have asked me to have her quit this girl, but she will not listen to me.

Amusements

"BRASS BOWL" WINS ON SCREEN

Romance and adventure seldom achieve so pleasing a mixture in talking pictures as they do in "Masquerade," the all dialogue Fox Movietone picture which opened yesterday at the Ceramic theater.

Adapted with surprising fidelity from Louis Joseph Vance's best-seller, "The Brass Bowl," this entertaining screen play explains why the book is still in demand. Vance's mastery of story-telling maintains its interest whether in print or in the movies.

The delightful mix-up between a millionaire bachelor and a notorious crook who might be his twin brother, and the complications injected by a charming girl, all afford unusual pleasure to the audience.

One wonders at the adroitness of Alan Birmingham in his difficult dual role of the millionaire and the burglar. The actor's ability to maintain the resemblance but to change entirely his voice and mannerisms to suit the divergence in impersonations, is, technically, one of the most interesting spectacles beheld in a long time, and it gives a satisfactory answer to the question of whether a "talkie" can compete with a stage production in this phase of histrionic art. Leila Hyams is quite as delightful as she is convincing in the role of the girl who endeavors to save her father from the penitentiary. Clyde Cook, Farrell Macdonald and Arnold Lucy enact important supporting roles with excellent results.

of the girl who endeavors to save her father from the penitentiary. Clyde Cook, Farrell Macdonald and Arnold Lucy enact important supporting roles with excellent results.

MARIAN NIXON IS "PLAY MAMA"

Davey Lee found room in his heart for another favorite during the making of "Say It With Songs," Warner Brothers' new all-talking and singing Jolson picture, now showing at the State theater.

Marian Nixon, his "play mama" in the story, won her way quickly into the affections of the child and the result was a realistic mother and son relationship in the picture.

All of this was the more remarkable because Davey has long since taken his "Uncle Al" who discovered him and who has never given up his great affection for Davey—very much into the family. Davey consequently has his "play mama" and his "play daddy"—who is also his "Uncle Al" off the set as well as a very real mother and father.

Perhaps a little good natured rivalry developed between Mr. Jolson and Miss Nixon over Davey's attentions, and if so this only adds to the realism in the tender story, "Say It With Songs."

The cast includes Holmes Herbert, Kenneth Thompson and Fred Kohler. Lloyd Bacon directed.

STYLES have changed . . . that's an expected fact that smart women must recognize. The straightline boyish dress has become a thing of the past. Represented.

CANTON, O., Sept. 13.—(INS)—Railroads serving Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio, northern West Virginia and the Panhandle district of Maryland, will be required to furnish 66,000 more freight cars during the remaining quarter of 1929 than a year ago for the transportation of commodities produced in the district.

This was indicated today by reports given at the closing session of the fall conference of the Allegheny advisory board here.

Three hundred shippers and receivers of freight received this report which was given by representatives of more than a score of basic commodity producers of the Allegheny region.

FIND SCULPTOR DEAD IN SEA

Edmond T. Quinn's
Body Recovered
In Harbor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Considerable mystery today surrounded the death of Edmond T. Quinn, well known American sculptor, whose body was found floating in New York harbor near Governor's Island.

Quinn, who took poison on May 11, had been missing from his home here since Monday. The sculptor, who was ranked among the foremost in America, had created many notable pieces of work. Museums throughout the country display his compositions, and he was at work on a statue of Henry Clay for the government of Venezuela when he disappeared.

ed in Washington today as something already achieved.

Neither President Hoover nor Secretary of State Stimson would say as much today, for publication anyway, but the fact that Premier Ramsay MacDonald made up his mind to come to Washington within a few hours after receiving the latest American note made such an announcement almost unnecessary.

No one here can envision MacDonald's risking his own prestige and that of his Labor government by dramatically dashing across the Atlantic and returning with empty hands. That would be a spectacle of failure calculated to stun the world and put a strain on Anglo-American relations that could not be removed for years.

Charge of assault and battery filed by Herman Journey against Charles Patterson was dismissed. Journey alleged that Patterson had struck and injured his wife, Mrs. Lenora Journey.

32-PASSENGER FOKKER FLIES

Prima Donna of Air Makes Its Debut.

By David P. Sentner
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.
FOKKER FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The new 32-passenger Fokker plane, prima donna of the air, made its debut today and flew like an angel.

I sat behind Lieutenant Harry Johnson as he piloted the plane on its pioneer flight. For 25 minutes we flew at a height of about 600 feet over a score of air miles. It was like riding a bicycle.

The eleven and a half ton machine took off as easily as a baby carriage. There was a slight vibration from the roaring of the "horner" engines.

The pilot, on top of the work, shut off two of the engines and the new heavyweight champion of the air banked and climbed on half its power with remarkable ease.

Regarding sensations, there were no sensations. The 10 passengers climbed in with the crew of two, sat down on comfortable cabin chairs, enjoyed the performance, then glided to earth and stepped out.

This new plane brings additional flying glory to the United States. It is the largest land plane in the world. There are larger planes equipped with propellers, of which 8,700 is total useful load. It has a passenger capacity of 32.

200-Pound Birthday Cake Will Be Baked For Erlanger's 49th Anniversary Party

Pastry Will be Cut
Into 2,000
Pieces.

Two hundred-pound birthday cake, decorated with colored icing and candles, will feature the eighty-day celebration marking the 49th anniversary of William Erlanger store in East Liverpool, starting tomorrow.

The cake, baked by the Kaiser Bakery, East End, will be placed on display in the island window of the Erlanger store, Fifth street. On Tuesday morning it will be cut into 2,000 pieces and distributed to adult visitors at the store beginning at 10 o'clock.

The cake, in five layers of spice, devil's food and pound cake mixtures, contains two $5 gold pieces, six $2.50 gold pieces and six tokens for merchandise to be distributed during the sale. The bottom layer is 41x35 inches.

Erect Huge Electric Sign.
An electric sign, 24x16 feet, bearing the figure "49" will be suspended in front of the three-story Erlanger building during the eight-day sale. This will be erected today. The Erlanger store was established here by the late William Erlanger, sr., in 1880, when he opened the "Philadelphia Branch Clothing Store" in the present store room occupied by the Horton drug store at Fifth street and Broadway, opposite the postoffice. The founder died in Canton Dec. 26, 1928. The store is now operated by the third generation in the family.

The first Erlanger store in Fifth street was a crudely furnished establishment but carried a complete line of men's furnishings. Most of the business of the Pottery City at that time was centered in Second street and lower Broadway, but the elder Erlanger, a man of broad vision, established his store "on the hill" as Fifth street was then known.

William Erlanger, jr., joined his uncle in the store in 1886. The business had then outgrown its old location and during the following year it was moved to a room in the Golden block, where it is now located. Only a portion of the first floor and basement were used at the beginning. Now the store occupies three floors and the entire inclement, being the largest of its kind in Columbiana county, one of eastern Ohio's leading establishments.

Improvements costing $50,000 were made early this year. The changes included a store front of arcade design, elevator service connecting all four floors, rest rooms for patrons and other conveniences found as a rule in only larger metropolitan stores.

Julius Erlanger, the manager, is a son of William Erlanger, jr., and a grand nephew of the founder. He was born and educated in East Liverpool and for many years was engaged in business in Glens Falls, N. Y. He returned to East Liverpool Jan. 1, to assume charge of the local business.

The 49th anniversary sale, opening tomorrow and ending Saturday, Sept. 21, will be the "biggest value-giving event in the history of the store," Julius Erlanger said.

LAKE CLAIMS CREW OF 28

Search for Missing
Steamer Andaste
Abandoned.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Another tragedy of the lakes was written into the annals of time today when coast guards, airplanes and steamers officially gave up the search for the steamer Andaste and her crew of 28, missing for more than three days while violent storms lashed the waters of Lake Michigan.

Coast guards returned from a fruitless search of the shipping lanes between Grand Haven, Mich., and Chicago, today, convinced the ship had foundered and that its crew had perished. No sign of any wreckage was found by the searchers. The ship, not equipped with wireless apparatus, left Grand Haven, Monday, with a load of gravel for Chicago and has not been seen since.

Y. & S. STARTS WORK ON ITS SIGNAL LINK

Seven-mile Rail Line
To Columbiana
Planned.

$2,000,000 JOB

Extension Will Tap
Pittsburgh, Lisbon, Western.

The Youngstown & Suburban railroad, which was recently acquired by interests owning the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railroad, has started construction of a seven-mile extension between Columbiana and Signal, as part of the proposed linking of the Ohio river and the Mahoning valley steel district.

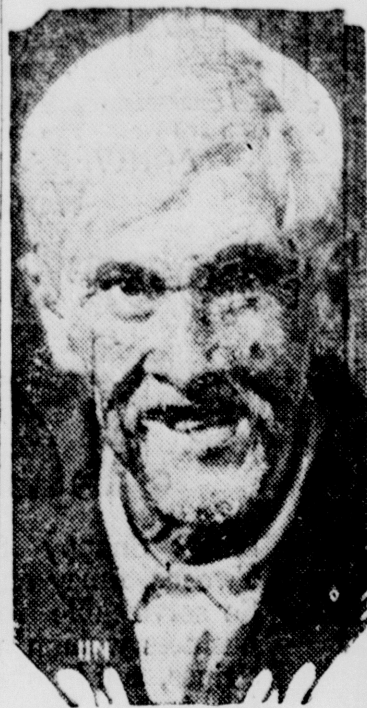

Ben Francis, East Palestine contractor, is grading for the branch north of Signal. The extension, which will tap the present P. L. & W. road at Signal, will cost approximately $2,000,000 and will be completed late in 1930.

The interstate commerce commission recently refused the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western, controlled by the Montour Railroad company, permission to construct a 18-mile branch from Smiths Ferry to Negley to connect with the present road. An application filed about 18 months ago for permission to build two branch lines which would extend from the Ohio river to Youngstown, had previously been rejected, the commission holding that the present trunk lines operating into Youngstown were able to render the service at reduced freight rates.

The Columbiana village council has granted the Youngstown & Suburban permission to cross a number of streets in the village. The present Y. & S. road runs from Youngstown through North Lima, Columbiana and Leetonia where it connects with the Youngstown and Ohio River railroad.

Engineers have made surveys to the Ohio river. One, it is reported, branches off the present Y. & O. tracks in Madison township, passing near Calcutta and follows Dry Run into East End. As this route is wholly within the state of Ohio, permission to build it would not be required of the interstate commerce commission.

Owa-Ton-Na Proves First
Remedy to Reach My Trouble

Suffering of Two Years Responds to This Fine Old Indian Remedy.

A daily ambitious feeling is not a natural one in health. Frequently it is the signal of systemic disorders. If properly functioning, the body eliminates poisonous wastes which make one feel tired and worn out. Sluggish liver and kidneys allow poisonous toxins to remain in the blood stream. These are carried about the body and finally more serious trouble is the result. Let Owa-Ton-Na prove to you how it aids nature in the elimination of these harmful toxins, tones the stomach, liver and kidneys and intestinal tract, thus producing more normal function of these organs. How it overcomes kidney, liver, stomach and intestinal disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general run down condition of health is daily in evidence wherever it has been introduced.

Among thousands who are particularly enthusiastic about Owa-Ton-Na is Mrs. Florence Flesch, 114 Second street, East Liverpool, Ohio, who says: "I surely was in a badly run down condition when I started to take Owa-Ton-Na. For days at a time I felt miserable. Constipation, stomach, and kidney disorders were sapping by strength. Rheumatic aches in my joints often made me feel miserable. Food of any kind seemed to disagree with me and I would not seem to have any appetite at all. My kidneys didn't act right and bladder irritation caused me discomfort."

"It just seemed to be tired and worn out and losing strength, no

MRS. FLORENCE FLESCHE ambition, and run down generally. It didn't take Owa-Ton-Na long to go after the cause of my trouble. Even in a short time I could tell it was doing me a lot of good. My stomach is getting better, as well as my kidneys. My appetite is much improved and food has a better taste. My strength is returning, and I have a great deal more ambition than I have had for a long time. I gladly recommend Owa-Ton-Na since it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken."

What Owa-Ton-Na has done for others it can surely do for you if you are suffering. Why hesitate in giving this harmless remedy a trial? You, too, will be surprised at how Owa-Ton-Na works. All Owa-Ton-Na asks is a trial, and it is certainly worth that to anyone who suffers. Owa-Ton-Na is sold in East Liverpool at Carnahan's, 114 East Sixth street and East End Stores, also, in Newell, W. Va.

TERMINAL TIE-UP

Action Recalls Famous
Danbury Hatters'
Case.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—(INS)—A suit for $350,000 damages was on file in common pleas court here today by the Building Trades employers association against local units of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers.

The suit follows a walk-out on several large jobs of the Cleveland Union terminals company, last Monday of hoisting engineers on orders from international officers. Plaintiffs in the suit also include the Lundoff-Bicknell company and the J. H. Libby company, contractors on the $3,000,000 Medical Arts building, which is one of the terminal projects on which the hoisting engineers have stopped work.

The reason for the walk-out, according to John S. Sister, assistant business agent of the hoisting engineers here, is not known. Sister said today he ordered the men off the job Monday under orders from Charles Hudell, of Boston, international president of the union.

W. P. Carroll, manager of the Building Trades Employers' association, said today that he believed the walk-out order was issued here in retaliation for the refusal of Chicago contractors to recognize the new Chicago local, a number of the contractors here having jobs in that city.

'Raglan Shoulders Are Smart'

PATTERN 1676
The Review 15c Practical Pattern

The little bloomer frock model shown today, Design 1676, is extremely smart because of the unusual raglan shoulders that are so new. Two inverted pleats give ample fullness to the frock. The collar, cuffs, pockets and bloomer bands are made of contrasting plain color fabric.

Printed gingham, percale or linen are suitable fabrics for the development of Design 1676. Smart and sensational colors are green, brown and yellow on grounds of the same color in a lighter shade, or on white.

May be obtained only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8.

Sizes 4 requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material and 1/2 yard trimming.

O'DOUL, KLEIN TO SWAT BALL IN TILT HERE

Phillie Sluggers On Trip

Will Play Here on Tour During World's Series.

Lefty O'Doul and Chuck Klein, sensations this year in National league baseball, will show their stuff before East Liverpool district fans in an exhibition game probably Oct. 16, during the world's series, according to plans announced today by William B. Powell.

Managed by Fred Hunter, former team mate of Powell's, while the latter was with the Pittsburgh Pirates, O'Doul and Klein are going on a barnstorming trip at the close of the regular schedule and are already well booked through the east.

Two baseball clubs will be selected here. Klein will play with one of the clubs and O'Doul with the other. Both are outfielders. Klein yesterday kept pace with Hack Wilson of the pennant-bound Chicago Cubs for the home run leadership of the National league as each banged out a home run.

O'Doul at the present time is setting the pace among National league batters.

CANTON WINS FROM QUINCY

CANTON, O., Sept. 13.—The canton Terriers won their first game of the class B "world series," here yesterday when Johnny Pamoski, young Canton right-hander, allowed the Quincy club but six scattered hits, and paved the way for the 5 to 1 victory over the champions of the Three-Eye league.

Canton made nine hits off Elmer Ambrose, the Quincy hurler. Four of these were for extra bases. Ambrose fanned seven men and passed only one, but the locals gave Pamoski great support.

The Canton pitcher allowed only two hits in the six innings. Only one man reached third besides the runner who scored Quincy's lone run, which was made in the third frame when Ambrose tripled and scored on Lewand's sacrifice fly.

Thorpe Seeks Backs. ALLIANCE, Sept. 13.—Ten let-terms of last year's squad are expected to answer the first call for Mt. Union gridgers next Monday. Graduation of three backfield stars has left an unbalanced strength in the line and Coach John M. Thorpe will probably place Wallace Glenwright, his only veteran back, at the quarterback position.

BIG THREE OF N. Y. U. GRID

Left to right are Len Grant, captain; "Chic" Meehan, coach; and Al Lassman, former star and now coach, of the New York University football team which is expected to carry the pigskin for many victories this year. All are in the pink of condition as they start off the squad on early fall practice.

CONCRETE, LOOS GO TO FOUTTS

Midland Manager Adds Pair of Pugs To Stable.

Byron Foutts, Midland, Pa., fight manager, has added Eddie Loos, Coshoccon, 112-pound boxer, and Bob Concrete, Midland, light heavyweight, to his stable of fighters.

Loos will be on the next card at Junction park.

Concrete is known in this section of the valley, not only for his fighting, but for his baseball ability as well. During the last summer he played in the outfield for one of the clubs of the Crucible Steel league at Midland and hit the ball almost as well as he hits his rivals in the ring.

Loos has defeated Young Circone, George Boychan and has won the Ohio amateur tournament for three years. Foutts declares he had failed to loose a bout in 105 starts.

Loos went to Foutts with the assistance of Joe Armshaw of this city, former promoter and matchmaker. Concrete holds victories over George Peck, Joe Juarez, Tarzan Joe Poole and a draw with Chuck Zelnaek.

YANK PUGS REPULSE INVASION

Griffiths Lays Out Haymann; Cavalier, Mays Win.

By Sid Mercer. NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The first wave of the invading horde of heavyweights to roll into Madison Square Garden this fall rolled right out again on stretchers.

Two Germans and one Englishman fell in the first skirmish of the season last night.

The Americans repulsed them without the loss of a man. (Business of waving the flag).

Two of the attacking trio were captured by decisions but the third was rendered hors de combat in the fourth round.

Paul Cavalier, of Paterson, turned back Charles Smith, of London, in the first ten-round affray and Harold Mays, another bold Jersey millitman, outscored Ted Sandwina, of Germany, in a bludgeoning duel.

Then up stepped a confident lad, dubbed "Gerald Ambrose" "Tuffy" Griffiths, to make it a clean sweep for America by exploding so many shells on the jaw of Dr. Ludwig Haymann, of Germany, that the guide doktor was carried out on his shield, bearing many wounds of the brief encounter.

Griffiths won as he pleased from Herr Haymann, who was a slow-moving target for Tuffy's stiff and rapidly delivered punches. The doctor showed little except a slow motion right that seldom landed, and a stout resistance for the first three rounds.

Kent Candidates Called. KENT, Sept. 13.—Twenty-six candidates for the Kent state college football squad have answered the initial call of Coach Merle E. Wagoner. Next Thursday has been set for the opening scrimmage session of the Golden Fleas.

Mike Bagalia, former star tackle of the Ohio university eleven last three years, will assist Coach Wagoner this year. Bagalia was an all-Buckeye conference tackle selection for two years.

Light Drills for Bearcats. CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—The University of Cincinnati Bearcats have been indulging in nothing but light practice sessions, and the long grind will begin in earnest Monday, Coach Babcock has announced. C. O. Benson, former university of Illinois athlete and an assistant coach there after his graduation, has arrived at the Bearcat camp to take charge of the freshman squad.

Muskies Lose Seven. NEW CONCORD, Sept. 13.—Muskingum college's grid squad, always a serious threat in Ohio conference circles, is seriously hampered this year due to the loss of seven regulars by graduation. There is a scarcity of good material from the 1928 freshman team, and the squad of Muskies will be small in number. Coach Bill Lange believes he has a few promising sophomore candidates for the jobs and will concentrate his efforts on development of a strong line.

Zippies Open With Toledo. AKRON, Sept. 13.—Coach Howard (Red) Blair expects to lose no time in getting down to business with his Akron university gridgers and has ordered all candidates to report tomorrow. Uniforms will be issued and other pre-training formalities will be disposed of so that practice can begin early Monday morning without any delay. The Zippies open the 1929 campaign against Toledo Sept. 23.

Peden Developing Punter. ATHENS, Sept. 13.—Coach Don Peden is determined to have a competent kicker and punter on his Ohio university eleven this season, and William Kepler and Gerald Strayer have been doing nothing much but practicing punting. The remainder of the Bobcat squad have been down to serious business for two days in preparation for the first scrimmage which will be held tomorrow.

In a recent month Europe imported nearly $3,000,000 worth of electric equipment from America.

Dixies, Potters On Edge

Community Loop Foes Launch Series Tomorrow.

COMMUNITY league pennant rivals, the Potters' Supply and the Dixieville clubs, are on edge for the first battle of their season's championship series which will be staged tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at Dixonville.

The Potters played a fast brand of ball to capture the flag in the opening drive while the Dixies, after floundering around more or less in the initial section, recovered their stride in the closing lap and steamed into the home port a winner by a sound margin.

The final standing of the clubs gave the Dixies a lead of two and a half games over the Golden Stars who finished in a dead heat with the Grandview A. C. of Chester, for second place.

The Chester team played consistent ball. Had they been in the race from the beginning of the season they possibly would have finished higher.

The final standing of the second half follows:

| Clubs           | W | L | Pct  |
|-----------------|---|---|------|
| Dixonville      | 7 | 3 | .700 |
| Golden Stars    | 4 | 5 | .455 |
| Grandview A. C. | 4 | 5 | .455 |
| Potters' Supply | 4 | 6 | .400 |

In all probability Rose will be on the slab for the Dixies in tomorrow's series opener, opposed likely by Martin of the Potters.

The second game of the series will be played next Wednesday at Wellsville. Three out of five will cop the bunting.

Fight Results. AT NEW YORK.—Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City heavyweight, scored technical knockout over Dr. Ludwig Haymann, in fourth round, (10).

Harold Mays, Bayonne heavyweight, won ten-round decision over Ted Sandwina.

Paul Cavalier, Paterson, won ten-round decision over Charley Smith, English heavyweight.

Larry Johnson, Chicago, knocked out Leo Mitchell, California, in the second round.

Raoul Bianchi, Argentina, won four-round decision over Stanley Porcia, Jersey City.

AT NEW YORK.—Eddie Bowling, Washington 122-pounder, won by a technical knockout in sixth round over Panchito Danico, Philadelphia.

AT DETROIT.—King Tut, Milwaukee lightweight, won ten round decision over Billy Petrolle, Fargo.

AT PATERSON.—Frankie Bauman, Paterson, won ten-round decision over Johnny Erickson, New York.

AT PITTSBURGH.—California Joe Gans, Gary, Ind., won decision over Ray Newton, Mansfield, O., in ten rounds.

AT FRANKLIN, N. H.—George Gomas, Philadelphia, knocked out Bob Mills, champion of New Hampshire, in first round (10).

AT LACROSSE, Wis.—My Sullivan, St. Paul welterweight, knocked out Johnny Fulton, Cedar Rapids, Ia., (6).

Macks But Three Games Away From Flag Goal

Clip Off Another Notch as They Topple White Sox; Cub Drive Narrows As Giants Beat Pirates.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Philadelphia early next week will remove the light placed in the window fifteen years ago to guide Connie Mack home.

For baseball's wandering boy and his footsore Athletics are today but three games from home. They clipped off another mile yesterday when they took their second straight from Chicago, 4 to 3. Bing Miller accounted for the winning tally when he singled in the eighth, stole second and scurried home on Joe Boley's scratch single.

Having lost five straight to St. Louis, New York turned and smote their persecutors, 5 to 2. Colligan Sherid hurled nicely while his teammates hit strongly eleven times.

With Herring, 23-year-old rookie making his debut in the box, Detroit trimmed Boston, 2 to 1.

Miller held Washington to seven hits as Cleveland won as it pleased, 5 to 1.

Big Ten Title Badgers' Goal. MADISON, Wis., Sept. 13.—Wisconsin's hopes for a Big Ten championship this year are most remote, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite declared today. Lack of reserve material and scarcity of veterans were listed as the principal reasons.

MEN ARE ADVISED BY ALIENISTGirls, would you rather be single and sane or married and a little crazy?Men, will you still insist on remaining bachelors, knowing that each year of the single state brings you nearer to the insanity border?
Figures just released by Dr. Alex
S. Hershfield, former state alienistof Illinois, reveals that from 1922 to 1928, insanity cases entered in Illinois' state hospitals for the insane show more married women and single men mentally unbalanced.Only 24 per cent of the women were single, while 39 per cent of the males were not married.These figures cover all the state's asylums, housing 21,000 patients, over half of them at Elgin, Kankakee and Dunning, Ill.Dr. Hershfield explained increased insanity among married women thus:
"Because women marry at an earlier age than men they are subjected to the emotional stress of the marriage state during the most sensitive years. Woman's constitution and nature are much more highly sensitized than man's, more emotional and easily swayed bysudden changes and outside stress.
"Child rearing and the care and drudgery of keeping a home are all factors that help to break down the walls of sanity. Financial worry and failure to keep the mate's love, in addition, prey upon the feminine consciousness until an unbalance is not unusual."
Explaining the perils for single men Dr. Hershfield declared the premarriage age for men is endangered with a strong or weak tendency to dementia praecox, according to the degree of sensitiveness.The alcohol habit acquired during the pre-marriage years, too, he adds, has caused much insanity
among young men.ITCHINGin any form is usually relieved

UNCLE POM

By Henry C. Rowland

A sparkling, swift-moving mystery romance.

SYNOPSIS.

Pomeroy Penfold, a wealthy widow, is a woman of fifty, who loves to travel and whose greatest joy in life is visiting friends, is a guest at the chateau of her sister, Alicia, and her husband, the Comte de Renne. When the story opens Uncle Pom is idling in a deck chair on the beach, admiring the picture which Maia, the count's lovely 20-year-old daughter by a first marriage, makes as she catches fish in a net.

An intruder—a man in yachting costume—appears suddenly and stares rudely at the girl without speaking; then disappears. Uncle Pom is furious. He asks Maia if she has ever seen the man before, and she admits having met him in America. His name is Capt. Seagrave.

That same afternoon Kirby Colton, handsome young scapegrace son of an American bishop, an old friend of the Penfold family, calls at the chateau unexpectedly, and is invited by the count to spend the night. He, too, has met Maia in America, and Uncle Pom believes interest in the girl is the reason for his appearance in this remote place.

INSTALLMENT V.

THE MATCHMAKER.

Mr. Penfold looked thoughtfully after Kirby, then glanced at the comte.

"There goes an illustration on the futility of suppressing all one's lawless impulses, and assuming then that they are deracinated. They crop out in one's children."

"That which says?" The comte raised his eyebrows.

"That not only the sins of the father shall be visited on his children, but the desire to sin, which the father may have been successful in keeping corked. Kirby's father once confessed to me that even up to middle age he was perpetually obliged to wrestle with the flesh and the devil. He won all bouts, then left it to others to wrestle in those transmitted to his only child, who was not vested with his parent's spirit of sanctity."

The comte nodded. "Like a general who wins a battle, then instead of holding it in support of raw recruited troops, I have heard our young friend was wild, but he does not look it."

"No, he looks like a St. Michael. A good many have discovered to their cost that Kirby Colton's looks and salon manners are camouflage. But I like him far better than the brief glance I got of this skulking Seagrave."

The comte frowned. "I cannot understand what he was doing down there on the shore. Unless he landed from a yacht."

"That is possible. I understand he buys yachts at a bargain to sell on spec. You mentioned Bertrand, that you wanted to go as far as Paris with me to arrange for the exhibition of your pictures. Let us start tomorrow morning, and you might take Maia with you."

"Why do you suggest this course, Pom?"

"To get rid of these two pests. They're no good. Why let Maia be bothered by them? Kirby is a handsome, plausible young scamp, beautifully conducted when he chooses. The other nuisance looked even worse, to me."

The comte moved uneasily. "I dislike to be chased from my own home. Maia is dutiful and obedient, and she has a level head. Besides, there is only one man in whom she has ever shown a warmth of interest. And that is yourself."

Mr. Penfold felt a sudden glow. He thought of what his sister had told him and of Maia's critique of his book, "Society Good Will Ambassador." But he answered with a smile, "That is the tribute of generous youth to kindly age. Maia has a gift of appreciation that is rare in girls of her age. I discovered that some time ago, and have been much touched by it."

"If you were to ask me," said the comte, "I should say it goes deeper than you permit yourself to think. Possibly on both your parts."

Mr. Penfold gave him a startled look. "Just what do you mean, Bertrand?"

"Maia flitted a photograph of you that she found on a closet shelf in her room when visiting your sister. She persuaded me to do a character sketch of it in pastel, and it is in a handsome frame beside her dresser. As for you, mon-vieux, it is evident enough that your most agreeable distraction here is to observe Maia, and that for the first time in a course of visits with us extending over a number of years you seem loath to leave. One might almost say, 'triste.' He smiled."

Mr. Penfold, his clear complexion a wholesome red swung round in his chair. "Look here, Bertrand, don't be a silly chump. Trying to put ideas into my head. I'm old enough to be her father."

"Yes, if you had married very young," the comte admitted. "But you are also young enough to be her husband. Come, let us be frank. Physically, you carry yourself like a man in his early prime, thanks to your past temperance in all things. And your heart, your quality of mind, is even younger. My daughter, on the contrary, is older than her 20 years, physically and mentally. That is due to her Russian blood."

Mr. Penfold's face grew still more red. It was already becoming weathered from a great deal of open air, winter golf and boating in the south and fishing trips de luxe, so that the color was not of a congested sort. But his brain felt pleasantly dazed, as if from repeated deep breathing, or from a glass of some rare old vintage. He struggled for his voice.

"It's absurd. Don't you try to spoil a sympathy that is delightful. I admit Maia is charming to me and I shall miss her. But why not? So few young women are able to or take the trouble to understand a man of middle age. That's all there is to it. She'd never think of me in any other way."

"I am not so sure, murmured the comte. 'At the risk of appearing to push my daughter into the arms of a millionaire who is also my benefactor and good friend, I should say she has already thought of you in a different way.'

"You must be getting gaga, Bertrand. Am I to say, 'Maia, do you love me enough to marry me'—and then if in a state of mental aberration she were to say 'yes,' answer, 'Thank you so much, my dear. I merely wanted to know. Merci mille fois. . . et au revoir.'"

The comte laughed softly to himself. "My poor Pom, you lack finesse. All you need ask her is if she is in love with anybody, and if so, with whom? I might do that myself. Maia is candid. She would tell you the truth, considering that your many kindnesses shown her gave you the right to such a question. Then you could act as you saw fit about it, and no harm done. You would not find yourself in any way committed."

Mr. Penfold's high color slowly faded, to leave him a little pale. Had he been alone, he would have felt his pulse. As it was, a deep exhilaration reassured him. He was thinking rapidly and clearly, and to his credit more about Maia's future happiness than about his own. Also his deep appreciation of the girl was not consciously of her beauty, but of her appreciation of himself. "Society Good Will Ambassador, who ought really to be decorated," he thought a little also of the many bounties with which it would delight him to supply her.

The comte said, mustily. "In some respects, my dear Pomeroy, you have what they call nowadays an inferiority complex. You undervalue your attractiveness to women, as a mere man. You are too sympathetic, thoughtful as well as kind. You could not possibly forget your wife's birthday and wedding anniversary and her taste in wall papers and wines. You would remember her favorite fish and fiction, and you would know when she was tired before she became aware of her fatigue herself. You are strong as a bullock, though like that animal you do not know your strength."

"Not long ago a pretty woman put it differently," Mr. Penfold said with gloom. "She told me I was strong as an ox, and that the similarity did not stop there."

The comte chuckled. "She must have made a bet that she could vamp you, and was a bad loser. Let us worry about something real, which is if so far as you can tell at this moment, has my daughter won your heart?"

Mr. Penfold drew a deep breath, then rose to his feet. For the first time in his life he was conscious of a sudden strong impulse. For a moment it nearly smothered him, then he took a deep breath and answered vigorously. "Yes, God help me, she has. But I didn't know it until right now."

The comte softly smote his palms together. "Bravo. As a promoter of my daughter's best interests for future happiness, I really ought to get a medal. Les palmes paternelles, or something of the sort. It seems scarcely sporting, however. Not cricket, as they say in England. However, I merely backed a conviction I possessed, and that I hated to see go to waste. But it is one thing to be in love with a young woman and another to want to be married to her and saddled with the responsibility of her future happiness."

"Don't play the fool, Bertrand," Mr. Penfold said irritably. "Of course, I want to marry Maia, now that I've learned the true state of my sentiment toward her. But if she's got the good sense you claim for her, she'll not want to marry a stodgy middle aged duffer like me."

Before the comte could answer a soft rich voice said from directly over the heads of the two men. "O, but she has and she does."
